“ RIP Uncle Marvin. Whenever we seen each other You always made it count. I remember in my youth when you would come to town to visit. We would slap box in the front yard. During this time you would show me some martial art moves like an arm break. This sparked my passion for the arts. I love you Uncle Marvin.....yeah this one hurts. Until we meet again.

“ I would like to extend my condolences to the family. Marvin was a major musical influence in many lives. I had a guitar from goldblatts Dept store with a matching plastic amp! I blamed any problem playing it on the fact it was a cheap Dept store guitar. One day Marvin came to our rehearsal in a white Grand Prix, a dashiki, and a bandana. He made my guitar scream!! That let me know it wasn't the guitar, it was me!!! He gave me a chord book , which I still have to this day, and sent me to the wood shed. I was a different player the next time he heard me. I was so proud of his approval and shock at my progress. RIP..
