“ I remember my grand mamma calling me everyday when I got out of school just to see how my day has gone. She would listen to me go on an on about a whole lot of nothing and if I was upset she would tell me that she was gonna get them for me. We used to sit up and eat chips, cookies and ice cream sandwiches together and then get in the car and go to Burger King to get us a little snack. I'm already missing the calls and hearing her say, "whats goin on around there" or "what yall cookin today". I will always be her grand baby and she my grand mamma.

“ I remember riding in the car with my mother-in-law and she would have the radio playing. The louder she turned it up the faster she would drive and I would tell her to drive this thang then Pearl and we would just burst out laughing. I will miss our calls during commercials to critique the television shows we would be watching at the same time. I will miss having a Mothers love and wisdom.
