“ She and Uncle Mack were the first to bring me to Tennessee for the summer. They stopped by St. Louis on their way back from Kansas City. The three of us hopped in the car and headed south on I-55. Aunt Roxie and I had a great conversation as Uncle Mack focused on the road. There was no radio station to listen to so that conversation was everything. I think that we even sang songs for a little bit; what else was there to do at 55 miles per hour? I always think about that trip when I pass through Perryville, Missouri. I think about us going to Grandma's Kitchen Restaurant to get gas and some snacks for the rest of the trip. She will always be the epitome of having class and being a lady. She has taught us all something as a strong matriarch of the family. Thank you for the sweet memories, guidance, lessons and please know that you are truly missed. Rest easy, Aunt Roxie! #loveyou #resteasyauntroxie

Cousin Roxie was a great friend and Cousin. All my life she, Cousin Mack and my parents were very close. Not only were we related, but JoAnn and Me were raised as Sisters. We grew up in St. John #1 Church and our parents were leaders like we don't have anymore. My Mother, Mrs. Prentice Walker and Cousin Roxie sang on the Sr. Choir and My Daddy, Abe Walker and Cousin Mack were Deacons together, and Sr. Choir Members also. The memories of every Sunday after church came flooding back like crazy. Life was good and our childhoods were made richer by the rearing we had from these four people. I will miss Cousin Roxie, but know that she is finally home.
